The Father of American Methodism.

A handsome granite monument thirty-one feet high and six feet square at the base, was unveiled yesterday with appropriate ceromonies at Cambridge, New York, to the memory of Philip Embury, the first Methodist preacher in America, who died just a hundred years before. The most distinguished men of the great Church were present, and addresses were delivered by Bishop Janes, Simpson and others.

The story of Philip Embury is a simple one, though of great results. In 1776, he was a poor carpenter in New York, having a shop on the site of the present City Hall; and in this shop he preached the doctrines of Wesley, whose followers were but few at that time in New York. As more people attend—the proceedings of the Executive Committee of the Democracy of Atlants, that the deliberations of that body last night were armonious, and that the best of feeling prevailed, giving evidence that the party in Atlanta will be thoroughly united in the coming municipal contest.

At the State capital of Georgia, the Democracy of Atlanta should remember that our party in this city exerts a great isfluence in the political affairs of the State. Hence, the great necessity of harmony, even in our city elections.

Let the spirit of harmony, that prevailed in the meeting of the Executive Cammittee last night, permeate and actuate the whole Democracy of the city. Thus united, we need have no fear of defeat; but divided, as we might have been, the results of any dissenompared to the clatter that would fill the world it sions would have been fatal.

It is true that the 1497 section of the Code declares that the surviving partner in case of death, has the right to control the assets of the firm to the exclusion of the legal representatives of a deceased partner, and he is primarily liable to the creditors of the firm for their debts. nection with the National Life ompany which has branches al Banks of the principal cities DISQUALIFICATIONS FOR A VIR. GINIA GOVERNOR.

Washington, October 21.—The friends of Col. Hughes deny that he is disqualified for the office of Governor of Virginia. They say he went to Tennessee in July, 1870, to compose a quarrel. He failed to make peace, but found there would be no fight, he delivered no letter understood by him to be a challenge leading to a duel. If he had delivered a challenge in Tennessee, and, although the constitution of Virginia applies to a principal sending or accepting a challenge outside of the State, it does not apply to one delivering a challenge unless it is delivered in the State.

He presents a scheme of scaling the debt, the State being unable to pay the interest on the debt, as it is. The bondholders will be induced to agree that the debt be reduced in volume all bonds for which the State is actually liable, except 38,000 State Capital bonds of 1853. In the conversion of bonds amounting to 3,963,000 coupons upon the bond, pay certificates, bills, payable in scrip and other evidences of State indebtedness, to be returned to the State Treasury, who shall issue instead of other bonds or certificates of stock equal in amount to the fall value of such
